SansaarPathe - Part 1
Chapter-40
The ultimate aim of Householders (Worshipping the Bharna)

"I asked a Pandit. He said - "A newly arrived person to Kashi never goes hungry." I thought, I just came today, hence I am a newly arrived person. I won't eat anything today. I shall see if Maa Annapurna makes any arrangements for my food today! With this feeling and full of pride, I sat at the banks of Ganges and got absorbed in meditation of my Ista. During the evening, the banks of Ganges became crowded for baths. Some took baths. Brahmins and Pandits were singing evening prayers. At that time an old lady came to me and said, "O Sadhu Baba, I am leaving my food packet with you. I am forced to do this due to the nuisance by the monkeys. I will pick this up after I finish taking a bath." Saying this, the old lady put the Shaala (Shorea Robusta) leaf wrapped food packet near me and went to take a bath. The old lady's age was probably not less than 80. She had wrinkled and sagging skin, loose teeth, gray hair and her clothes were rugged and very dirty. After the old lady went for her bath, I became engrossed in my own feelings. When my meditation ended, the nearby Jail House clock chimed ten times. At that time in the night, there was no one at the banks of Ganges. However, the food packet belonging to the old woman was still at the same place. I thought she might have forgotten. Then again I thought, in this place, people run after you for a mile to get one penny; it can't be true that the old woman forgot. Then, did Maa Annapurna arrange food for me? I trembled at the very thought of this. I sat there for a long time thinking the old lady may come back; however, no one came. Then hesitantly I opened the packet and was astonished to find eight "Sitabhoga". "Sitabhoga" is never found here. Moreover, an indigenous old lady would be ignorant of the existence of "Sitabhoga". I ate all these "Sitabhoga" with bewilderment. Suddenly, someone said from a distance, "does it happen like this?" Listening to this I was startled. I started to cry like a little boy. While crying I said, "O mother of the universe, I am ignorant."

"I never felt any inadequacy about knowledge before. I spent all night being happy and sad, excited and anxious. As soon as I fell asleep, the same old lady came and said, "hey, you don't accept gods and goddesses! You don't believe in the tranquil and manifested forms of god. Stupid! He who has created tranquil creatures like Debata, Demon and Human etc. and millions of other lifeforms in this universe, why do you think it is impossible for Him to take a form? Always remember, He is wholesome, all pervading, all powerful. Then, nothing is impossible for Him in this world. Saying those words, she, who has pleased the mind of Lord Shiva, vanished after showing her queen of queen image. I woke up with glee. Some heavenly scent entered my nostrils. Till that time, her Image was not going away from my mind. I cannot forget the splendor of her image in a hundred births."
